ALONG THE GARDEN PATH

VOL. 3

SUMMER, 1934

No. 2

PUBLISHED AT VAN WERT, OHIO, BY AUGLAIZE GARDENS

WE have been told that we should never start an article or a letter with an apology. However, we are going to violate the rules and apologize for putting so much sales talk in this issue of Along the Garden Path. As a matter of necessity, we must issue a catalog, we must have some way of telling our customers about our products and it seems expedient to make the catalog a part of this issue of Along the Garden Path.

We hope you will pardon our violating our usual rule. We will try to do better in the future. Nevertheless, we trust that our catalog will contain items and information that will be of interest to peony and poppy lovers. Some of the new peonies and some of Dr. Neeley's gorgeous hybrid poppies are certainly worthy of some study and attention on the part of those interested.

EARLY in June Van Wert will have its third annual Peony Festival. The exact date, which is set for the time the peony blooms usually look their best, has this year been set for June 6th.

The Van Wert Garden Club originated the event in 1932 and the members first got their idea from Winchester, Virginia's apple blossom festival.

Van Wert people have grown fine peonies for the past 20 years. They were grown first in pretty back-yard gardens. Later large commercial gardens were developed where now hundreds of thousands of bright blooms wave in the breezes.

Years ago people from miles around came to Van Wert to visit the gardens and see the peonies. The number increased from year to year. So the Garden Club originated the Peony Festival to help entertain the visitors.

This year the festival program will be confined to one day. There will be a mammoth parade of flower-covered floats. Several uniformed bands will play.

Miss Thelma Scheidt, 17-year-old blonde, senior from one of the high schools of Van Wert county, will be crowned as queen of the festival. She was chosen as the most beautiful girl from many aspirants to the crown. Her coronation is an impressive ceremony.

Here's a warning, however. If you're interested in studying varieties of peonies and want to spend considerable time in the gardens, don't come on festival day or on Sunday. So many thousands of people are here then that it is impossible to see the flowers as well or for our people at the garden to give you as much attention and help you to see what you wish as on a week-day when the festival isn't in progress.

SELFISHLY we're glad Mr. Rufus Dawes and his associates in Chicago are continuing "A Century of Progress" in 1934. Auglaize Gardens are located on Route 30, the Lincoln Highway, one of the direct routes between east and west. Last year quite a few of our friends from the east stopped at Auglaize on their way to the fair. This year we expect to have the opportunity of greeting some of them again and others.

OCCASIONALLY in looking over a field of flowers, some one plant will be so outstanding for some reason or another that you are drawn to it instinctively. Sometimes this is due to the strong color of the flower, but more often to the sheer beauty of it. This is the way one of Dr. Neeley's new poppies affects us every time we have seen it blooming in our fields. We know from the remarks that many of our visitors have made to us that many of them are as much taken with it as we are.

We have in mind the variety ECHO, which is one of a group which we introduced a few years ago. This flower is a soft silvery pink with a peculiar irridescence that causes it to stand out at once and which to some extent defies our powers of description. The flower is large, often 8 to 10 inches, and is well carried on a strong, stiff stem. It holds up well and is quite good even when cut.

A few years ago ECHO sold at $25.00 but we now have sufficient stock that we can offer it at a much more reasonable price. This year we will have some nice strong plants at $7.50. However, the stock is not so great that we would advise you putting off ordering until shipping time, it might be gone then. If you have none of the finer new poppies, here is an opportunity to treat your garden to something outstanding and which most of your neighbors will not have, but still at a reasonable price. If you are planning to come and see us this blooming season look for this poppy. Better yet, reserve a plant of it while the subject is fresh on your mind.

I DIDN'T know such roots grew."

That was the very satisfactory testimonial we got in a letter last season from a commercial gardener. He grows a few peonies for sale, along with many other perennials. We had an order from him for a dozen or so varieties which he planted to re-sell.

Many of our customers have praised us for shipping them better roots than they had ever seen before.

Here are some of the things we do to produce this stock:

1. Careful, frequent cultivation. Weeds are taboo in the garden at all times.

2. Irrigate in dry seasons so plants are not stunted.

3. Carefully clean away all tops and rubbish in the fall.

4. Spray when necessary, principally as a protection against fungus diseases.

5. Careful digging and division of stock.

6. Use three-year-old stock for propagation. At this age the stock is old enough to stand the shock of transplanting and young enough to be vigorous.

ST. PAUL has been chosen for the annual meeting and show of the American Peony Society. Up in Minnesota peonies bloom later than they do in Ohio and the show will not be until June 21st and 22nd. If you are interested in fine peonies, you will enjoy attending.

Membership in the American Peony Society is open to all. The annual fee is $3 for which you are entitled to all benefits of the society including the quarterly bulletin giving information about new and interesting peonies, shows, etc.

If you should like to belong you may send your annual fee to Auglaize Gardens and we will forward it, together with an application for membership, to headquarters at once.

THE other day we got a new small automobile which cost less than $700. It is smooth, quiet, fairly comfortable and fast. Out driving yesterday, we were talking about how most of us neglect traveling.

Van Wert is in the western part of Ohio, just a few miles from the Indiana line. It is safe to say that more than half of the adult population have never seen the Atlantic ocean, Washington, D. C., or have looked down the Potomac from Mount Vernon. They consider these as far distant points and have a hazy idea that some time when they have a couple of weeks off they will go there.

Yet last summer a friend of ours had to make a trip to Norfolk, Virginia. He got up early one morning and was in Washington early the same evening, driving a small car.

"I wasn't particularly tired and might easily have gone on to Norfolk that night," he said. "And the trip to Washington cost only a few dollars."

We dare say that some of you people reading this who live in the east have never been out to Detroit to see the automobile capital of the world or haven't visited the fine cities and beautiful countryside of Ohio. All within a couple of days from your home.

We people of the middle west should eat more sea food dinners while watching the waves of the ocean. And some of you in the east might well take three or four days some time this summer to realize that Ohio is still not made up of primaeval forests and Indian villages, and that there are some fine gardens well worth seeing. A trip to Van Wert, the peony center of Ohio, during blooming time will be something never to be forgotten.

Do you know that at our Gate House Store we have an exceptionally complete stock of books on garden subjects? We have almost all of the titles which are in popular demand, and many not so often seen, all of which we offer at publishers' prices, post-paid. Just drop us a line listing the titles you want, inclose your check and we can probably send them to you by return mail. If by chance you happen to select a volume which we do not have, it will only take a day or two longer to have it mailed you, all charges paid, direct from the publisher.

A good garden library is an asset to anyone who grows flowers, and now is a good time to start building one.

1934 PRICE LIST

WITH the issue of our 1934 catalog, we have made a departure in the method of listing our peonies, which we hope will be of assistance to our customers.

In the past it has been our practice to list all of the peonies in alphabetical order, separating them only as doubles, singles and Japanese types. We have never given long descriptions of the peonies, as most of them, with the exception of the very new varieties can be found fully described in the Manual of the American Peony Society (this is a book which would be valuable for the library of any peony lover. Our Gate House Store can supply it for you at the publisher's price of $3.00). In this Manual you will find an impartial description of the various varieties, and we feel that some of our customers would do better to be guided by the descriptions given in this Peony Manual than to take the somewhat glowing accounts often given of inferior varieties by writers who may not be acquainted with some of the newer and better sorts. We do our best to make our descriptions accurate and true, but like anyone else we have our favorites and we are sometimes inclined to recommend them in preference to some other varieties which are equally good and which would appeal to someone more than they do to us.

We hope that this new arrangement of the price list will appeal to our customers and that it will assist them in solving some of their garden problems.

While we do not give detailed descriptions of any of the peonies, we will be very glad at any time to send them to anyone who wishes a full description of any variety about which they may care to inquire.

PEONIES

The prices quoted below are for strong, healthy 5-eye Auglaize Garden divisions, with generous, well-balanced root systems, cut from three-year-old plants. We can also supply one-year-old plants of many varieties at the same price, if you prefer this size of plant. Large plants for immediate effect will be quoted upon request. The arrangement in the list is as follows: First, the rating as given by the American Peony Society. Second, the name of the variety. Next comes the color, then the season of bloom (early, mid-season or late).

GROUP 1

In this group which follows we have placed about sixty outstanding flowers, all of which are suitable for average garden conditions. By this, we mean that they have sufficiently strong stems to stand up under almost any circumstances, and that they will be satisfactory to you for growing in your garden for garden use, as distinguished from cut-flower or exhibition use. Here you will find a representative lot of all of the three colors of peonies and some in each season of bloom.

We recommend this group to our friends and assure them that they may make a selection from it without fear of getting flowers which will not meet garden requirements. You can rely on each and every one of these plants to be good in your particular garden.

The group is further divided into three lots, the first lot selling at $1.00 per division, the second at $1.50, the third at $2.50. In this way we feel selections can be made quickly and easily and the purchaser may make his selection from the price class he desires with the least effort, but with assurance that he is getting the type of flower that he wants.

GROUP 2

In this section we have grouped most of the newer and scarcer peonies, together with a few of the older ones, all of them high rated flowers, but which have certain characteristics which do not make them particularly desirable for general garden use. We refer to such flowers as Tourangelles and several others, which while very beautiful when used as cut-flowers, do not stand up because of the weak stems and are entirely unadapted to the garden where they will have to withstand weather conditions. The flowers of this group vary in price, and include many which are very scarce and consequently higher in price and which have not been rated by the American Peony Society. This is a group which with the exception of the exhibition flower varieties should be considered by the specialist, and would not interest most home gardeners, at least not until such time as there is sufficient stock of these in propagation that their price becomes lower.

GROUP 3

In this group we have included a group of some of the older flowers. All of these are nice flowers, but they have been on the market for many years and the stock is large and consequently the price of the flowers in this group is lower than those in either one of the others. The flowers in this group are not of as fine quality and very few of them are as highly rated as those in Groups 1 and 2, so we do not advise that you depend upon this group exclusively if you want a fine attractive garden effect. A few of them should be used to fill in if you find you need some extra varieties, or because of their low price they can be purchased in considerable quantity to use as cut flowers if you need something of this character.

ORIENTAL POPPIES

Auglaize Gardens' list of Oriental Poppies is not as long as that offered by some nurseries, but it nevertheless covers a complete range of the various colors in which these gorgeous flowers are found. Each variety offered is distinct and will prove an acceptable addition to any garden. Our prices are quoted on strong field grown plants, shipped during their dormant season. We do not offer pot-rooted cuttings, as we feel they are unsatisfactory in most gardens and we do not recommend their use.

In addition to the standard varieties, we list a few of Dr. Neeley's newest introductions, which we offered to the trade a few years ago. We believe that every plant in this group is of outstanding quality and that when they become better known, they will take their place in the lists of the foremost poppies. Every variety is either distinct or a marked improvement over all others now in commerce. Prices in this group this year have been considerably reduced, as the amount of stock now warrants this reduction.

AUGLAIZE GARDENS - VAN WERT, OHIO

Australia—A large massive flower of oxblood red, carried on a heavy stem. An outstanding flower which is worthy of being classed with Lula A. Neeley and Wurtembergia	$1.50
Edna Perry—A lovely bright pink flower, opening a little later than Mrs. Perry. A vigorous grower50
Flanders—Deep crimson, almost ox- blood red50
Grossfurst—Deep crimson, and coal- black spot50
Harmony—A distinct deep rose color with lavender cast. Very unusual. Small plants	2.50
Hercules—A flame-red four-petaled flower of immense size75
Jeanne Mawson—A fine large peach- pink that is very satisfactory	1.00
Lord Lambourne—A fire-red color and lacinated flower, which always stands out. Finely divided foliage, vigorous grower	1.00
Lula A. Neeley—Beyond question the finest red poppy grown today and not surpassed by any other for clar- ity of color, freedom of bloom and good habit of the plant. A good cut flower75
Mandarin—A true Chinese red of good size and fine substance. Vigor- ous grower	1.25
Masterpiece—A lilac pink flower of good size, quite different from most other poppies. It has the unfortun- ate habit of not opening well and of fading when exposed to sunlight	1.00

AUGLAIZE GARDENS - VAN WERT, OHIO

Mrs. Perry—A popular salmon-pink of good form and is a vigorous grower50

Perry's Blush—The best of the white or near white poppies. Its coloring could be termed ashy white. It has a stiff stem and is a good grower. A much more reliable flower and better grower than Perry's White, which it closely resembles 3.50

Proserpine—A fine cerise flower which when well grown very much resembles Wurtembergia, but lacks the substance and clear color of the latter and does not weather as well .. .50

Silver Queen—A dwarf plant for the front of the border, 18 inches high. Silver white in color and a good grower 5.00

Trilby—The last of the poppies to bloom. Deep rich red, the petals are plaited. True stock is scarce and errors are often found in the stock frequently offered 1.50

Wunderkind—Vigorous grower of rose cast. New. Stock limited 1.50

Wurtembergia—With the exception of Cavalier, this is probably the largest of all poppies; flowers are often 11 inches across. The color is cerise scarlet with a black blotch. Has always been an outstanding poppy ... 1.00

The New Neeley Introductions

- Cavalier—Cerise, somewhat similar in color and form to Wurtembergia, but a larger flower and lasts longer. The flower is wonderfully formed of remarkable substance, is carried on a long stiff stem. An outstanding poppy in the red class$5.00
- Echo—This poppy is quite different from other pink poppies and is very attractive. The color is a light silvery pink with a light maroon blotch—one of our favorites of the entire group 7.50
- Enchantress—The color of this wonderful poppy is a soft lilac rose and by some observers might be termed lavender. Enchantress is a seedling of Masterpiece. It is as distinctive in color as its parent, but always opens perfectly, does not fade as quickly and is just a little deeper in color. It has none of the faults of Masterpiece and all of its good qualities. Enchantress is a distinct improvement in poppies of this type and will prove extremely popular .. 7.50
- June Delight—A large, bright silvery pink flower, the color of which improves with age. This plant is so outstanding among the pink poppies that even greater popularity is predicted for it than the famous Lula A. Neeley, Dr. Neeley's best known variety. It is perhaps the best and most conspicuous poppy which he has introduced25.00
- Purity—A beautiful soft pink without spots or blemishes. It is of medium size and of unusual charm. Its color will blend to good advantage with most other flowers 7.50
